Overview

Over the last decade, our Technology Team have become the 'go to' lawyers for multinational technology companies setting up in Dublin, which is reflective of our position as Ireland's leading technology law firm. Our lawyers provide cutting edge advice on commercial law matters to some of the world's leading tech companies who come to us to steer them through new and sometimes unforeseen legal circumstances.

We advise the world's leading social media and search organisations along with emerging startups and entrepreneurs.

From first round funding to strategic outsourcing partnerships, intellectual property management or global privacy protocols, we give the smart advice you need.

Our team advises leading technology companies including Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, Nest and Quantcast on technology law issues, intellectual property, licencing and compliance with Irish laws. We are also instructed by Xilinx, Microsoft, Fujitsu, Booking.com, Adobe, Amazon, Google, Ericsson, Living Social and other world leading technology companies.
